Madrasah Baitul Amaan Orphanage Bangladesh

And they ask you about orphans. Say,
“Improving their condition is best.” 2:220

Introduction

- Islamically, it is the right of an orphan child to be protected, and taken care of physically, psychologically, and emotionally.
- Prophet PBUH was an orphan.
- Orphans have no protection due to losing their fathers.
- Poor Orphans have no source of income or a guardian to take care of them. Muslim community is responsible to aid the orphans.
- Caring for orphans is a great responsibility with very strict guidelines. Al-Ihsaan Trust understands and takes them seriously.

The Prophet PBUH said, "Myself and the caretaker of an orphan will be in Paradise like this," i.e. close to him. al-Bukhārī 5659

Statistics & Challenges:

- » 4.8 million out of 64 million children are orphans in Bangladesh.
- » 50% grow up impoverished.
- » 25% of children between the age of 6-11 work to support their families, for low wages in dangerous tasks.
- » Orphan children's sufferings have increased in the global pandemic and crisis situations.
- » Orphans and 500,000 'street children' in Dhaka often survive by rummaging in landfills for food.

Long-Term Impact

Millions of Orphans are Exposed to:

1. Violence, various types of abuse and Child Exploitation
2. Child labor in hazardous conditions.
3. Forced out of school, half fed with poor nutrition, without healthcare or die young of starvation, and diseases.
4. Live on the streets.
5. Suffer from disabilities, discrimination, stigma and isolation.

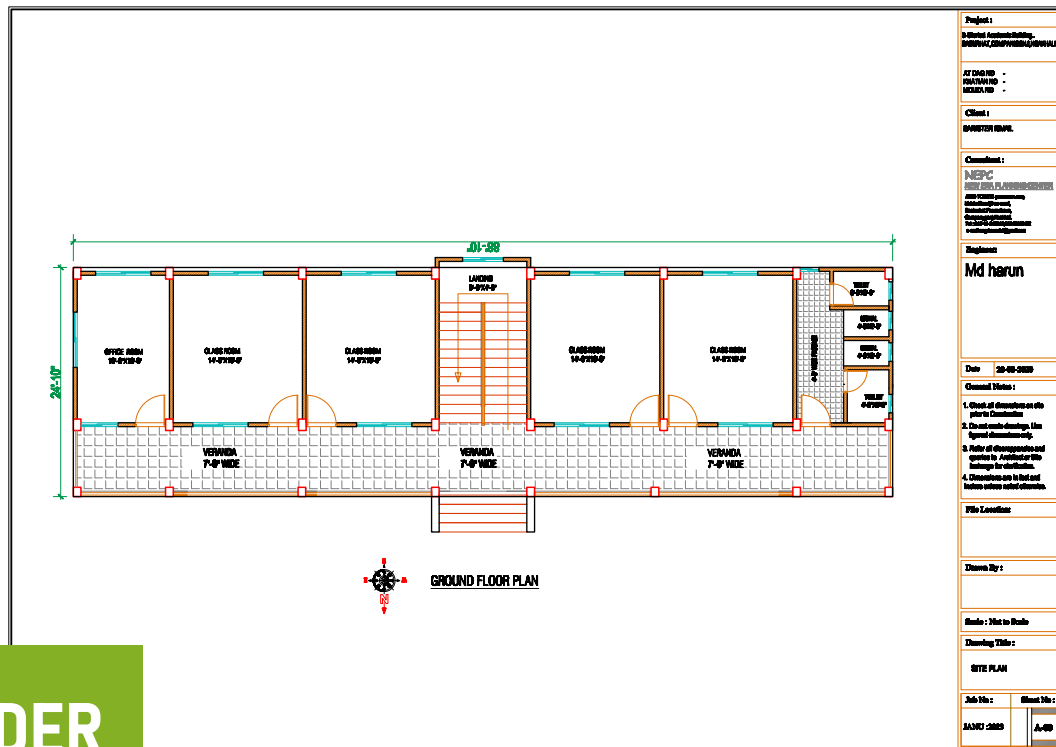

Many are jailed unfairly for petty crimes or forced into slavery by criminal gangs.

They face negative consequences in their physical, cognitive and social development having serious, lifelong implications for their health and wellbeing.
